Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

1. Claims 1-14 presented for examination.
2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ellinas et al.
5. Ellinas et al (6,331,905) taught the invention substantially as claimed (e.g., as in exemplary claim 1) including a fault tolerant ring network comprised of a plurality of nodes with adjacent pairs of nodes linked by at least one of a working (service) link and a protection link (col 3, line 40 et seq), comprising:

- a) transmitting and receiving a data using the service links when the network is in a no-fault condition (col 5, line 10 et seq); and
- b) transmitting and receiving data using one or more of the protection links when the network is in a fault condition (col 5, line 10 et seq, col 6, line 17 et seq, col 7, line 36 et seq, and col 14, line 1 et seq.)

6. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the sonet fault tolerant networking art at the time of the invention that he claimed invention differed from the teachings of Ellinas et al only by a degree, e.g., in the claimed first and second adjacent nodes only linked by a protection link. This feature was claimed only in the preamble and was not properly linked to the elements of the body. Thus, it only shows area of interest or use and does not add any weight for interpreting the elements of the body of the claim. Therefore, no weight will be given to this feature. Claim 1 also recites a first type of data but this is an obvious variation of the data taught by Ellinas et al. Other claims recite grouping of the nodes and communicating data according to the groupings but this is no more than an obvious variation of Ellinas et al grouping of cyclegroups (see Figures 3-5; col 10, line 25 et seq, and col 11, line 14 et seq.) Other claimed features are all obvious variations of the well known techniques of sonet fault tolerant networking art.
